

Ancient Central Asia and Beyond

Lecture series January to July 2021

organized by the

Hellenistic Central Asia Research Network (HCARN)

-
- 17 March The Oxus Auloi and their relation to Greek music
Stefan Hagel, Olga Sutkowska, and Gunvor Lindström
Austrian Academy of Science, Vienna and German Archaeological Institute, Eurasia Department, Berlin
- 31 March The publication of Galina Pugachenkova's archives
Svetlana Gorshenina
Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique (CNRS)
- 14 April Graeco-Bactrian and Indo-Greek numismatics: what's next?
Simon Glenn
Ashmolean Museum, Oxford University
- 29 April Teaching Central Asia
Thursday! Matthew Canepa
University of California, Art History and Visual Studies, Irvine
- 12 May Knocking on the Iron Gates: recent research in the Bactro-Sogdian Borderlands
Ladislav Stančo
Charles University, Institute of Classical Archaeology, Prague

The lectures will be held on Wednesdays on Zoom at 15:00 CET, and are planned to have a maximum duration of one hour including discussion. Please check bactria.org on the day of the lecture for the Zoom link.

Enquiries: hcarncommittee@gmail.com

The lecture series will be continued. Please reserve the following dates:
26 May, 9 June, 23 June, 7 July